We started the tremendous job of sorting things out [redacted] for packing, and spent the whole day in the house.

It snowed hard last night, [redacted] the city was beautiful to-day under the snow.

Stan Cleveland and Tommy came to see me this afternoon, and we went over European Army matters, as well as the French financial situation. The talks between the Foreign Ministers on the EDC are progressing fairly well. However, the Germans have injected a troubling note in regard to their membership in NATO, and also they protest against the appointment by the French of a French Ambassador to the Saar. Meanwhile, there is dangerous rioting in Egypt, the Korean truce talks are not advancing, and affairs in Tunisia are in a mess.
